

Questions of Bankruptcy, Public Policy and AFV

Get a good grasp of what the below questions are saying and implying. Remember that in the rules of bankruptcy, it is obviously fundamental that the party declaring bankruptcy is saying, “I cannot pay my debts and I do not have the ability to pay my debts.” Therefore as the UK is bankrupt, and has been for quite some time, it cannot pay its debts and does not have the ability to pay its debts. Now as every corporation and artificial public entity exists within the parental jurisdiction of the UK, they must adhere to the UK Corporation policies (statutes) and fall in line with the rules & regulations of the national bankruptcy. Hell it’s their rules and not ours; we are real sentient and spiritual men and women, not strawmen, artificial entities, legal fictions, corporations, publicly registered names etc.

How can the artificial and public entity, the legal title and legal fiction names that appear on certified copies of Birth Certificates, National Insurance cards, bank statements, council tax forms, court summons, mortgage papers, passports, driving licenses, speeding tickets and all other public and official correspondence, be expected and enforced to pay a debt when the very corporation that assisted it’s creation is operating in bankruptcy? That would be against the UK’s own laws! It is a violation against public policy and the national bankruptcy to attempt to pay a public debt; so do NOT do it!!!!!! By the way, this is the reason for the Accepted for Value method of settling a public debt. The government had to provide a way in which commerce could exist with the whole nation in (secretly) declared bankruptcy. As long as the double entry accounting books balanced and HM Treasury reached a big fat zero (0) at the end of the fiscal year, all was well within the bankruptcy.

So if you believe that a corporation is attempting to extract the use of privately earned sweat and labour funds to settle a public liability/debt, try asking them if this is the case and then inform HM Treasury (legal fiction & corporation) and The House of Lords (legal fiction, corporation and highest court in the land) that you believe that such and such corporation is attempting to violate public policy and the national bankruptcy and you feel compelled to assist in this matter whilst acting lawfully and honourably.

So it seems that the UK is being held to ransom by the PRIVATE money changers (bankers) of this world. Can we help? The answer is yes! Inform HM Treasury, Houses of Parliament, the Prime Minister, the House of Lords and the Queen of your concerns. Yes these are all public offices and corporations, yet without the knowledge that we, the men and women, are waking up to the bondage that the UK is being secretly held in, these public officials will never feel our growing united efforts.

More importantly inform your family, friends and colleagues. Inform your local authorities, police and other run for profit businesses. The system was designed to be perfect, yet the greed of mankind has eroded the system into an elitist, status and class driven system. You are reading this because you are meant to and because you can help. Don't sit on the sidelines, surely we have a duty to help and protect each other as well as our children and future generations.
